JIM COX

July 19, 1954 - September 24, 2023

The Miami HEAT proudly celebrate the life of Jim Cox, the team's statistics crew chief from the franchise's inception in 1988. Jim helped record every point, rebound, assist at more than 1,500 HEAT home games in his career. His commitment to the franchise, and the entire South Florida sports community, will never be forgotten.

Since Micky Arison became Managing General Partner of the HEAT and hired Pat Riley as Team President in 1995, the HEAT has become one of the most stable, respected and successful franchises in all of professional sports, both on and off the court. During the 28-year Arison-Riley partnership, the HEAT has won three NBA Championships, seven Eastern Conference Championships, 16 Divisional Championships, has made 22 postseason appearances and has the best overall record in the Eastern Conference. The HEAT are one of just four franchises out of 124 in the four major North American professional sports leagues that have made at least 22 postseason appearances and captured at least three championships during the 28-year period. Additionally, no team in the NBA has made more NBA Finals appearances since 2006 than the HEAT's seven trips.

MICKY ARISON

MANAGING GENERAL PARTNER

In 28 years as Managing General Partner of the Miami HEAT, Micky Arison has guided the franchise to unprecedented heights, including bringing South Florida three NBA championships.

As chairman of the world's largest cruise ship operator, the 74-year-old Arison and his family have always been involved with the team. Although his father, Ted, brought the NBA franchise to South Florida in 1988, it has only been since Micky took control in 1995 that the HEAT has evolved into one of the NBA's top organizations.

Arison, who was elected Chairman of the NBA Board of Governors in October 2005 and served a three-year term, brought to the HEAT the same standard of excellence that propelled Carnival Corporation & plc into a global vacation leader. One of Arison's first moves was to dramatically re-shape the franchise by hiring Pat Riley, one of the NBA's all-time winningest coaches, as Miami's President and that began a run of sustained excellence.

Together, Arison and Riley have built an organization that is considered one of the NBA's elite franchises. In addition to winning NBA championships in 2006, 2012 and 2013, with Arison and Riley at the helm, Miami has made the playoffs in 22 of the last 28 seasons, winning 16 division titles, seven Eastern Conference championships while advancing to the Eastern Conference Finals 10 times and the NBA Finals seven times. The 16 division titles the HEAT has captured over the last 28 years are the most in the NBA during that span.

Arison and Riley have been able to maintain a level of excellence in Miami by pulling off some of the largest acquisitions in the league. They initially built the foundation of success by acquiring franchise cornerstones Alonzo Mourning and Tim Hardaway. Next came Dwyane Wade and Shaquille O'Neal and a blockbuster 13-player trade, the largest in NBA history, in which they acquired James Posey, Jason Williams and All-Star Antoine Walker, all key cogs in Miami's first title run. The groundwork for Miami's 2012 and 2013 championships was built in the summer of 2010 when Arison and Riley played key roles in re-signing Wade to a multi-year contract and acquiring NBA All-Stars LeBron James and Chris Bosh via sign-and-trades. Most recently, the duo of Arison and Riley has drafted Bam Adebayo and Tyler Herro in addition to acquiring multi-time All-Stars Jimmy Butler and Kyle Lowry to form the nucleus of the current HEAT squad.

Previously, Arison showed his commitment to the fans of South Florida when he worked successfully with Miami-Dade public officials to keep the HEAT in downtown Miami. The result of his diligence was an innovative public-private partnership that together built the county-owned state-of-the-art Kaseya Center that fans enjoy and the three-time NBA Champion HEAT calls home.

Arison has enjoyed an all-star business career as well, growing up in the cruise business and spending the better part of two decades learning it from the ground up before being named chairman and CEO of Carnival Corporation & plc in 1990. In 2013, the role of Carnival Corporation & plc chairman and CEO was split with Arison continuing to serve as chairman and longtime Carnival board member Arnold Donald named CEO. In 2022, Josh Weinstein was named Carnival Corporation & plc president, CEO and chief climate officer, with Arison remaining in place as chairman.

Arison followed his education with a two-year stint in the Carnival Cruise Lines sales department. He became reservations manager in 1974, and took over the post of vice president of passenger traffic in 1976, succeeding to the presidency in 1979. In 1990, he was appointed chairman of the company's board of directors.

In 1987, the company went public, generating $400 million for future expansion. As Carnival continued its growth through the traditional avenue of new ship construction, Arison also sought to expand the company's cruise operations by entering new market segments of the industry.

In 1989, Arison engineered the acquisition of the venerable Holland America Line, giving Carnival entry to the premium segment of the cruise industry. Arison also led the company's effort in the acquisition of ultra-luxury leader Seabourn, as well as Cunard, operator of the world's most famous ocean liners, and Costa Cruises, Europe's number one cruise company.

Arison also spearheaded Carnival Corporation's acquisition of P&O Princess Cruises, one of the most recognizable names in travel, in a deal valued at approximately $8.2 billion. The combined Carnival/Princess group, named Carnival Corporation & plc, is the largest cruise vacation group, with a diverse portfolio of brands catering to vacationers from all over the world. Carnival Corporation & plc is truly a global vacation leader with its stock trading on both the New York and London exchanges.

Under his direction, Carnival Corporation & plc has grown into the largest, most successful cruise operator in the world.

Today, as chairman of Carnival Corporation & plc, he oversees diversified travel and tourism holdings, including cruise ships serving virtually every market segment – from contemporary to ultra-luxury – as well as leading tour operators and hotel chains in Alaska and the Yukon Territory.

The Arison family and Carnival Corporation & plc are devoted to South Florida and over the years have supported a variety of arts-related and community service organizations. Organizations supported by the Arison family and Carnival include the New World Symphony, The National YoungArts Foundation, Miami Children's Museum, Jackson Memorial Foundation, Miami Project to Cure Paralysis, Project Medishare for Haiti, American Red Cross, Big Brothers/Big Sisters, United Way, Chapman Partnership and many others.

Under Arison's leadership the HEAT have been champions in the fight for inclusion and social justice for all. In 2018, the HEAT captured the NBA's inaugural Inclusion Leadership Award for the franchise's ongoing commitment to diversity and inclusion. In November of 2020, Arison was named to the board of the NBA's Social Justice Coalition which focuses on action and change around voting access and criminal justice reform at the national, state and local levels.

Arison's contributions to the cruise industry have been recognized by a wide range of international organizations. He has been named an "Officer of the French Legion of Honor" – the country's highest civilian honor – by French President Jacques Chirac, received a honorary doctorate in naval architecture from the University of Genoa, and has been awarded the Decoration of Commander, First Class, of the Order of the Lion of Finland by the President of the Republic of Finland. He has also been awarded the insignia of "Onorificenza al Merito della Repubblica Italiana" by the President of Italy, which confers that country's highest title on a civilian.

NICK ARISON

CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

Nick Arison begins his 21st year as a full-time member of the HEAT organization and his 13th as Chief Executive Officer. He has been associated with successful teams on every level of basketball, and has been a part of championships with the Miami HEAT, Duke University and USA Basketball. Arison oversees the day-to-day operations of the franchise and is a limited partner in the team. He also has served as the alternate governor since the 2005-06 season and has previously served a term as a member of the NBA's prestigious Competition Committee.

The promotion to his current position on July 22, 2011, was a natural progression for Nick, who has grown up with the HEAT. His grandfather, Ted Arison, was one of the team's original founders and his father, Micky Arison, bought the controlling share of the franchise and was named Managing General Partner on February 13, 1995.

Arison has served the HEAT in a variety of positions over the years and has learned the business from the ground up. He initially started working for the HEAT organization as a team attendant for four seasons from 1995-99. He then served summer internships in the Arena Operations, Community Affairs and Sales and Marketing departments before becoming a full-time staff member on the business side of the organization in 2003 as an Account Manager, Premium Partnerships. In 2006, he was promoted to Director of Corporate and Premium Services where he oversaw the Account Management Team. Prior to the 2008-09 season, he was named Vice President, Basketball Operations where he worked directly with Pat Riley and Andy Elisburg on overseeing the basketball side of the organization and played an active role in the recruiting and procurement of talent. During the summer of 2010 he was instrumental in the re-signing of Dwyane Wade and Udonis Haslem, as well as the acquisitions of LeBron James, Chris Bosh and Mike Miller. In recent years he has also played a significant role in the acquisitions of Kyle Lowry, Jimmy Butler, Shane Battier, Ray Allen and Goran Dragić. A rising star in the business, Arison was selected as one of SportsBusiness Journal's "Forty Under 40" in 2013, an award that honors the most promising young executives in sports business under the age of 40.

Under Arison's leadership the HEAT have excelled off the court as well and continue to make an impact throughout the South Florida community. That was acknowledged by the HEAT capturing the 2022 NBA Sales and Marketing Team of the Year Award which recognizes demonstrated excellence in business performance across both key revenue drivers and operational focus areas such as people and culture, and community impact. Additionally, the HEAT was the inaugural winner of the NBA's 2018 Inclusion Leadership Award for the franchise's lengthy history and ongoing commitment to diversity and inclusion.

Arison was also instrumental in Miami's foray into the growing world of esports. With the creation of HEAT Check Gaming, Miami was one of 17 NBA teams to field a team in the inaugural NBA 2K League which began play in May of 2018. In its' first season of existence, HEAT Check Gaming capped a successful season by advancing all the way to the NBA 2K League Finals.

In addition to his responsibilities with the HEAT, Arison served as a member of the United States Men's Senior National Team support staff from 2004-08. He assisted with the day-to-day operations for USA Basketball's 2008 Olympic team that captured the gold medal in Beijing, China as well as the 2007 gold medal winning FIBA Americas Championship team, the bronze medal winning 2006 World Championship team and the bronze medal winning team at the 2004 Olympics.

Arison began his basketball administrative career while attending Duke University. He spent four seasons as team manager of the Blue Devils men's basketball team and was named the head team manager during his senior year. Over that four-year span, Arison became the only team manager in Atlantic Coast Conference (ACC) history to be a part of four straight ACC Championships and was a manager for Duke's 2001 NCAA National Championship team.

Arison, who serves on the Boards of the HEAT Charitable Fund, Project Medishare for Haiti and The Buoniconti Fund to Cure Paralysis, graduated from Duke with a degree in public policy and a certificate in marketing and management. He and his wife, Jenna, reside in Miami with their son and daughter.

PAT RILEY

PRESIDENT

Beginning his 29th season in Miami, HEAT President and Hall of Fame inductee Pat Riley has a resume that is unquestionably one of the most impressive in all of sports. Few in any profession have achieved the levels of success that Riley has accomplished while serving various roles in over half a century of dedication to the game he loves. The list of accomplishments for the nine-time NBA champion is equally long and impressive. Winning has been a constant for Riley, who after the HEAT reached the NBA Finals in 2020, has reached the Finals as either a player, coach or administrator in an unprecedented six consecutive decades.

When Riley first arrived in Miami in September of 1995 he spoke about his vision of a championship parade down beautiful Biscayne Boulevard. That vision has been fulfilled three times, as under his guidance the HEAT have become just one of 11 NBA franchises to win multiple championships, claiming the league's top prize in 2006, 2012 and again in 2013. For Riley, winning a championship was nothing new. He arrived in Miami with a championship pedigree having previously won NBA titles as a player, assistant coach and head coach. It's that record of success that led to him earning the highest praise that can be bestowed upon an individual in the NBA. On September 5, 2008, in his first year of consideration, Riley was enshrined with the class of 2008 into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame.

Riley has established a standard of excellence within the franchise, a culture both on and off the court, that has continually allowed the team to reach unprecedented heights and has positioned it as one of the most respected and successful in the NBA. Never was that more evident than when Riley guided his group of "15 Strong" to the franchise's first NBA championship in Dallas on June 20, 2006. After the game, Riley commented that he had packed one suit, one shirt and one tie for the trip to Dallas. What he brought back to Miami was its first championship, fulfilling that vision he spoke about when arriving in Miami in 1995. In 2012 and 2013, he watched his hand-picked successor Erik Spoelstra guide teams that he put together as HEAT President once again reach the top of the mountain and enjoy back-to-back championships in an arena built largely as a result of his success. Since his arrival 28 years ago, the HEAT are just one of four teams out of 124 in the four major North American professional sports leagues that can boast of having made at least 22 postseason appearances and having captured at least three championships. It's that success and the sacrifices he made along the way that has earned the respect of his peers and led to him receiving the Chuck Daly Lifetime Achievement Award from the National Basketball Coaches Association during the 2012 NBA Finals.

For the past 28 seasons, Riley's influence can be found throughout the HEAT organization as he has transformed the team from its early years to one of the most successful and desired destinations throughout the league. His work off the court constantly re-shaping the roster has been crucial in the HEAT winning three championships on the court. Never was that more evident than the summer of 2010. After two seasons of positioning the HEAT to be a major player in the 2010 free agent pursuit, while still remaining competitive and earning a pair of postseason berths, Riley proved to be the architect of one of the most successful off-seasons in NBA history. His work the previous two seasons put Miami in position to be able to add several key pieces in the 2010 free agent market and he delivered a star-studded class. In addition to accomplishing his stated mission of re-signing Dwyane Wade to a long-term contract, he also convinced perennial All-Stars Chris Bosh and LeBron James to combine forces and join the HEAT to help form the core of what would be a championship contender. The trio paid immediate dividends helping lead the HEAT to the NBA Finals in each of their four seasons together. The star power Riley assembled also produced great results off the court as well, as Miami led the NBA in road attendance and sold out every home game in each of their four seasons together. As a result of his efforts pulling off a major coup, Riley was named The Sporting News 2010-11 Executive of the Year and shared the NBA's Executive of the Year award.

For Riley the summer of 2010 was just one more example of him working his magic in the front office. Since his arrival in Miami, he has engineered some of the biggest trades in the NBA, deals that have brought All-Stars Alonzo Mourning, Tim Hardaway, Eddie Jones, Shaquille O'Neal, Shawn Marion, Goran Dragić, Jimmy Butler and Kyle Lowry to the HEAT as well as add talented players Brian Grant and Jamal Mashburn. Additionally, prior to the 2005-06 season, he made headlines as he helped engineer the largest trade in NBA history, a five-team, 13-player blockbuster, in which the HEAT obtained All-Star Antoine Walker from Boston along with Jason Williams and James Posey from Memphis, all key contributors in the HEAT's first NBA championship. He has also used the free agent market in the past to help build the HEAT into a championship team. Riley made a big splash in the summer of 2003 when he signed free agent Lamar Odom, who went on to enjoy his finest NBA season to date before becoming the centerpiece in the trade to acquire the then 11-time All-Star O'Neal. He has also used the free agent market to acquire solid veterans Mike Miller, Shane Battier, Hall of Famers Ray Allen and Gary Payton, Rashard Lewis and Chris Andersen to all be key parts of this championship franchise. Riley has also helped shape the HEAT through the years with the successful drafting of Dwyane Wade, Bam Adebayo, Tyler Herro and Caron Butler and also scored with the signing of undrafted free agents Duncan Robinson, Max Strus, Gabe Vincent and Udonis Haslem, who went on to become the all-time rebound leader in franchise history.

Riley's keen eye to spot talent has not been limited to just the players. His two head coaching hires have proven to be extremely successful as well as he promoted former assistant coaches Stan Van Gundy and Erik Spoelstra, giving each their first NBA head coaching job. Both have rewarded that faith by becoming among the best coaches in the NBA. Each has guided teams to the NBA Finals during their head coaching careers, won over 56 percent of their games and entering the 2023-24 season, Spoelstra and Van Gundy rank 20th and 30th respectively on the NBA's all-time wins list. After leading Miami to back-to-back NBA championships in 2012 and 2013, Spoelstra became one of just 14 coaches in NBA history to win multiple championships and one of only nine to win consecutive championships. His 109 wins and .592 winning percentage are both tops in HEAT postseason history.

With all the big moves Riley has made to shape the HEAT, the most important trade he was involved with might very well have been the one that delivered him to Miami. Looking to change the face of an organization in its infancy and become a solid contender year after year, HEAT Managing General Partner Micky Arison agreed to send a first-round draft pick and $1 million dollars to the New York Knicks on September 1, 1995 for the rights to Pat Riley. One day later, Riley was named the team's fourth head coach and team president. From that point, the face of the organization changed. Riley brought with him star power, a proven track record, professionalism and results. Since he arrived in 1995, the HEAT has compiled a 1,270-959 (.570) record, the best record in the Eastern Conference over that 28-year span and the third-best in the NBA. Miami has made 22 postseason appearances under his leadership, has captured 16 division titles, the most in the NBA over that span, and earned seven trips to the NBA Finals, winning three NBA championships.

Riley's resume is filled with milestones during an NBA career that spans 55 years as a player, assistant coach, head coach, administrator and broadcaster and has produced nine NBA championships. He compiled a 1,210-694 (.636) all-time record guiding the Los Angeles Lakers, New York Knicks and the Miami HEAT during a 24-year head coaching career that is one of the most impressive in all of sports. His 1,210 regular season victories place him fifth on the NBA's all-time list, his 1,904 games coached ranks ninth and his .636 winning percentage in the regular season places him seventh in league history among coaches who have coached at least 500 games. Riley averaged 50 wins per season in his coaching career. Additionally, his 171 postseason victories rank second in NBA history, his 282 postseason games coached rank third and his .606 postseason winning percentage is eighth best all-time in the league annals among coaches who have coached at least 50 postseason games. His five NBA championships as a head coach tie him with John Kundla and Gregg Popovich for the third highest total in NBA history. As a result of his many accomplishments, in 1996-97 as the NBA celebrated its 50th Anniversary, Riley was named one of the Top 10 Coaches of All-Time by a panel of media who regularly cover the league and in 2021-22 as the NBA celebrated its 75th Anniversary he was named one of the Top 15 Coaches of All-Time as was his successor Spoelstra. Simply put, Riley is a winner.

No matter the odds, "getting the job done" has never been a problem for a person who has seen winning from all angles. As a youthful role player for the 1971-72 Los Angeles Lakers, Riley earned the first of his nine NBA championship rings. He claimed another as an assistant under Lakers coach Paul Westhead in 1979-80. The New York native collected four more titles for the Lakers as the team's top man in 1982, 1985, 1987 and 1988. Eighteen years later, he guided the HEAT to their first NBA Championship, his fifth as a head coach, and then in 2012 and 2013 he claimed rings eight and nine as HEAT President. The 18-year span between championships as a head coach established an NBA record. As a head coach, his teams advanced to the NBA Finals nine times, the Conference Finals on 12 occasions and captured 18 divisional championships, nine conference championships and five NBA titles. He has been honored as the NBA Coach of the Year on three occasions, the only coach in NBA history to receive the award with three different teams. Riley has also captured NBA Coach of the Month honors 11 times. His 21 total postseason appearances as a head coach trail only San Antonio's Gregg Popovich for tops in league history and his string of 19 consecutive postseason appearances as a head coach from 1982-2001 rank second behind Popovich. Riley has also served as a head coach in nine NBA All-Star games.

In his illustrious career, Riley guided his teams to at least 50 wins in a season 17 times and has amassed seven 60-win seasons, achieving the milestone with each of the three franchises he guided. His seven 60-win seasons are tied for the most by a coach in NBA history and his 17 50-win seasons are tied for the second most. When he began the 2000-01 season with an Opening Night victory over Orlando on November 1, he became just the second coach in NBA history to reach

1,000 wins. Riley currently ranks second in both regular season and postseason wins for both the HEAT and the Lakers.

During his first stint guiding the HEAT, Riley led Miami to 354 victories and four consecutive Atlantic Division titles over an eight-year period. Riley, who ranks second in games coached with Miami at 849, returned to the bench on Dec. 12, 2005 after a two-year hiatus where he concentrated on building the team from the front office. Upon his return he successfully navigated the HEAT to the pinnacle of the basketball world in 2006 and added more luster to a legacy and resume that did not need further validation. Riley compiled a 454-395 record (.535) during his 11 seasons on the HEAT sidelines and guided Miami to eight playoff appearances and 34 postseason victories. Prior to his arrival the franchise had compiled a 205-369 (.357) mark, with one winning season, two playoff appearances and two postseason wins in its first seven years.

On the eve of his first season in Miami, Riley changed the look of the HEAT by designing a six-player trade that brought in Mourning, who became the HEAT's first All-Star. He sprang into action again on February 22, 1996, making three trades involving 10 players just hours before the trading deadline that cleared the way for future free agent signings and brought Hardaway to Miami. Hardaway became a two-time All-Star during his stint with Riley and in 1996-97 was named to the backcourt with Michael Jordan on the All-NBA First Team. Those moves created the foundation in which the HEAT has been built upon and helped send the message that Riley would do whatever it took to produce a winner in Miami.

And the team has been winning ever since. In addition to delivering three NBA championships to Miami, Riley's HEAT tenure has included many highlights. In 1996-97 he garnered a third NBA Coach of the Year honor with his third team, an unprecedented feat in league history, after leading Miami to a 61-21 (.744) record and the HEAT's first trip to the Eastern Conference Finals. During the 1998-99 campaign he led Miami to the best record and the number one seed in the Eastern Conference for the first time. The 1999-00 season saw the HEAT capture its fourth consecutive Atlantic Division crown. That season also culminated a dream for the franchise as Riley ushered Miami into its beautiful new home, a state-of-the-art downtown bayside arena (now known as Kaseya Center). The following season, Riley turned in what many experts claim was one of the best coaching jobs of his amazing career. After re-working the roster in the summer of 2000 by acquiring three-time All-Star Eddie Jones and hard-working power forward Brian Grant to make a run at a possible championship, Riley had to guide the franchise through one of the biggest jolts in its history. On October 16, in the middle of the pre-season, Alonzo Mourning, the team's centerpiece, announced that due to a kidney disease he was expected to miss the entire season. Despite the devastating news, Riley guided the HEAT to a 50-32 record for a second place finish in the Atlantic Division and the third best record in the conference.

Before joining the HEAT, Riley spent four successful seasons as the head coach of the New York Knicks. Prior to Riley's arrival the Knicks had posted just four winning seasons in the previous 10 years (1981-91). During his four-year stint in New York, Riley guided the Knicks to four straight winning seasons, four consecutive playoff berths and compiled a 223-105 record. His .680 winning percentage is the best in Knicks history, easily outdistancing former assistant Jeff Van Gundy who ranks second (.590), and his 223 victories rank fourth on the club's all-time list. He recorded at least 50 wins in each of his four seasons in New York, the only time in Knicks history the team posted at least 50 wins in four consecutive years. The highlight of his career with the Knicks was leading them to the 1994 NBA Finals, New York's first trip to the Finals since the 1972-73 season. Riley's teams won three consecutive Atlantic Division titles in his first three years (1991-94) in New York, and his tireless dedication earned him his second NBA Coach of the Year honor in 1993.

Prior to leading the Knicks, Riley was head coach of the Lakers for nine years and guided the team to four NBA titles and three other NBA Finals appearances. After taking over for Paul Westhead 11 games into the 1981-82 season, he led the Lakers to the NBA Championship in his first season as a head coach in the league. Under Riley, the Lakers became the first NBA team to win 60 games in four consecutive seasons (1984-85 through 1987-88). He won the Pacific Division title in each of his nine years leading the Lakers and was honored as the 1990 NBA Coach of the Year. He compiled a 533-194 (.733) regular season record in his nine seasons in L.A. and won at least 50 games each year. Riley, who averaged 59 wins a season in L.A., brought "Showtime" to the Great Western Forum. Under Riley the Lakers recorded a 305-59 (.838) regular season mark at home. His teams also compiled a 102-47 (.685) postseason record. His 102 postseason victories rank second on the Lakers' all-time list as do his 533 regular season wins.

After leaving the Lakers, Riley served as co-host of NBA Showtime on NBC in 1990-91 before joining the Knicks in the fall of 1991. It was a return to the television booth for Riley who was Chick Hearn's partner on Lakers' broadcasts after his playing days ended (1977-79). He returned to the bench early in the 1979-80 campaign when Lakers' Head Coach Paul Westhead asked him to become an assistant coach.

As a player, Riley had an extensive nine-year career. He was the 1967 first-round pick (seventh overall) of the San Diego Rockets for their inaugural 1967-68 season. After three seasons, he joined the Lakers' in 1970-71 and played five years. He was a member of the 1971-72 Lakers team that won an NBA-record 33 consecutive games and the NBA Championship. Riley finished his playing career with the 1976 Western Conference Champion Phoenix Suns.

Born in Schenectady, NY, Riley attended Linton High School where he became a two-sport star in basketball and football. He was a member of the Linton basketball team that beat historic Power Memorial High and center Lew Alcindor, who, as Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, would later lead Riley's Lakers to greatness. As a tribute to his accomplishments, Linton renamed its gym in Riley's honor in 1997 and inducted him into its hall of fame in 2000.

After turning down an offer to play football for Bear Bryant at Alabama, Riley decided instead to play basketball for Adolph Rupp at Kentucky from 1963-67. He was a collegiate star, earning team MVP honors three times and averaging 22 points per game on the Wildcats' famed "Rupp's Runts" squad that lost in the 1966 NCAA Finals to Texas Western. A gifted athlete, he was an 11th-round draft choice of the NFL's Dallas Cowboys in 1967 although he never played college football. His brother, Lee, played defensive back for the Detroit Lions, Philadelphia Eagles and New York Giants of the NFL (1955-60) and for the New York Titans of the American Football League (1961-62). His father, Leon, was a major league catcher/outfielder with Philadelphia in 1944 and became a minor league manager in the Phillies' organization.

Along with his wife, Chris, Riley has been involved with numerous charity and community service projects throughout his career. They founded The Miami HEAT Family Outreach in 1997 which has raised more then $23 million for the South Florida community and whose primary beneficiaries include Jackson Memorial Foundation's Guardian Angels which supports the Holtz Center for seriously ill children and SafeSpace which is a domestic violence shelter for women and their children. They are also involved in the Pediatric AIDS Foundation's Kids for Kids organization which they started in 1992 in New York, and the YMCA in Los Angeles, New York, and Miami. For over 30 years the Rileys have been actively involved with Boys and Girls Clubs of America. As a result of his efforts, Riley has received many prestigious awards, including the Miami Project Sports Legend Award in 1992, Boys and Girls Clubs Miami Person of the Year Award in 1998, and was honored by the YMCA Miami in 1998. Riley was also instrumental in establishing the HEAT's Home Strong program in 2006 which supports and gives aid to military personnel.

Riley is not only one of professional basketball's winningest coaches, but his speeches before hundreds of corporations have earned him the title of "America's Greatest Motivational Speaker." He has been rated by SUCCESS magazine as "The best in his field." Riley has also completed an award winning 30-minute motivational video entitled "Teamwork" in which he applies his winning philosophies to business and life in general. In addition to being one of the most sought after motivational speakers in the country, Riley has authored two books, Show Time and The Winner Within. Pat and his wife, Chris, have two children, James Patrick, and Elisabeth Marie.

ERIC WOOLWORTH

PRESIDENT, BUSINESS OPERATIONS

The 2023-24 season marks Eric Woolworth's 29th season with The HEAT Group and 24th at the helm of the organization as President, Business Operations, during which he has made an indelible impression on both the Miami HEAT and Kaseya Center. His leadership has helped transform the organization and redefine its corporate identity into a customer service and sales-driven machine that is among the elite in the sports and entertainment industry. Under Woolworth's direction the HEAT has been consistently recognized as an NBA leader in customer service, fan entertainment, marketing, sales, and Arena operations, and has become a recognized leader in the South Florida business community. Working side by side with Pat Riley, Woolworth's efforts have made the HEAT a first-class organization away from the court as much as it is on it.

Woolworth's primary responsibility consists of directing and overseeing all non-basketball aspects of the organization from Marketing and Social Responsibility to Sales and Service, Human Capital, Business Intelligence, Merchandising, Finance, Event and Arena Operations, and more.

Under Woolworth's leadership, The HEAT Group has championed and implemented ELEVATE, an NBA initiative designed to improve the customer experience by striving for excellence at every level of the business. Since the program's inception in 2013, The HEAT Group has achieved the highest overall satisfaction rating among teams participating in the ELEVATE initiative.

Woolworth has been instrumental in recognizing and harnessing the power of business intelligence. The franchise has mandated the use and analysis of data in every functional area of the business to help improve results, performance, and customer relationship management.

Woolworth was the driving force behind the franchise's focus to mobile-centric technology. In 2017-18, the HEAT was the first team in the NBA to offer mobile only entry with approximately 85% of HEAT fans entering Kaseya Center using the technology. Additionally, the HEAT was the first team in the NBA to introduce contactless ticketing, allowing fans to tap their phones to get into the arena.

Under Woolworth's guidance, The HEAT Group's Business Operations Division continues to garner accolades in a variety of disciplines including winning the 2022 Alvah H. Chapman, Jr. Award of Excellence for making significant contributions to the development of Miami's central business district. Additionally, the franchise continues to log repeated and league-high season ticket renewal rates, league-leading retail merchandise sales, and the unveiling of the first-of-its-kind "Mindfulness Sanctuary" at Miami Carol City Senior High School, making it the 22nd educational safe space unveiled under the team's "Learn and Play Center" umbrella. The HEAT was also the inaugural winner of the NBA's 2018 Inclusion Leadership Award for the franchise's lengthy history and ongoing commitment to diversity and inclusion.

Moreover, the HEAT is a consistent leader in social media engagement and growth—ranking sixth in the NBA with a combined 32.2 million worldwide followers (Facebook, twitter, Instagram, Tik Tok, Snapchat and Weibo).

Woolworth oversaw the launch of 601 Analytics, a full-service, in-house data collection and analysis platform that gathers data on every aspect of the business: ticket sales, food and beverage sales, retail sales, ticket utilization for games, concerts and events, mobile scan entries and much more—providing a real time view into the franchise's business operations. 601 Analytics' client list includes the Milwaukee Bucks, the NBA, Ilitch Sports (Detroit Tigers and Detroit Red Wings) and the New Orleans Pelicans and New Orleans Saints.

In addition, in September 2020, the HEAT established a ground-breaking partnership with the Miami Police Department and Dedication to Community (D2C) to administer specialized training to the entirety of Miami's police force with the goals of positively impacting interactions between law enforcement and the South Florida community—particularly the Black community.

In April 2023, the HEAT inked a multi-year naming rights and sponsorship deal with Kaseya, the leading global provider of unified IT management and security software for managed services providers and IT professionals, renaming the home of the HEAT "Kaseya Center." The deal is a testament to the enduring and fruitful public/private partnership Woolworth has built with Miami-Dade County.

Woolworth's efforts have also firmly planted Kaseya Center on the map of elite venues hosting such world-class acts as Madonna, Marc Anthony, Beyoncé, Lady Gaga, Billy Joel, U2, Paul McCartney, Justin Bieber, Miley Cyrus, Phish, Taylor Swift, Bruno Mars, One Direction, Justin Timberlake, Coldplay and many others that play before sold-out crowds. The Center also secured the 2004 and 2005 MTV Video Music Awards, the first two times in the award show's history it was hosted outside of New York City or Los Angeles.

The Kaseya Center is also a celebrated leader in the facilities industry due to Woolworth's leadership. The Center has maintained its position as the #1 arena in Florida for the 11th time during the past 12 years—according to both Pollstar and Billboard's 2022 year-end rankings of the world's top arenas. Worldwide, the Center ranks 8th according to Pollstar and 9th according to Billboard for ticket sales.

Woolworth steadily climbed the ranks of The HEAT Group after first joining the HEAT as General Counsel in 1995 and a successful legal career in Washington, D.C. His business acumen and key role in the development of the Kaseya Center led to his promotion to President, Business Operations in January of 2001. He had served as interim President from August of 2000 to January of 2001.

Woolworth is a cum laude graduate of both Georgetown University and Georgetown University Law Center. He lives with his wife, Jocelyn, their son, Jackson, and their daughter, Cassidy, in Coral Gables.

ERIK SPOELSTRA

HEAD COACH

Erik Spoelstra begins his 16th season as head coach of the HEAT and his 29th as a member of the organization. Since being elevated to his current position on April 28, 2008, Spoelstra has rewarded the faith that HEAT President Pat Riley showed in him by garnering a 704-491 regular season record, a 109-75 postseason mark, 12 postseason appearances, nine division titles, six conference championships and guiding the franchise to a pair of NBA championships. Since his ascension to head coach, Miami has the third-highest regular season and fourth-highest postseason winning percentages in the NBA (both second in the Eastern Conference). In February 2022, Spoelstra was chosen as one of the 15 Greatest Coaches in NBA history as part of the league's 75th Anniversary Season celebration. The list was selected by a panel of 43 current and former NBA head coaches in collaboration with the National Basketball Coaches Association and Executive Director & General Counsel David Fogel.

In 15 seasons at the helm, Spoelstra has already established his place in the HEAT record book as the winningest coach in franchise history. He holds the franchise postseason records for victories (109), winning percentage (.592), series won (23) and games coached (184). In regular season play he ranks first in victories (704), games coached (1,195) and winning percentage (.589). Spoelstra, who passed Riley on Miami's all-time victory list with win number 455 on Dec. 16, 2017, has also been honored as the NBA's Eastern Conference Coach of the Month a franchise-record nine times.

Since replacing Riley on the HEAT bench 15 years ago, Spoelstra has seen the expectations for his team change dramatically from the time he was appointed head coach until now. When he inherited the head coaching reins in 2008 he was given the task of improving a young team that had been ravaged by injuries the previous season and had won just 15 games. Two years later, after the summer of 2010 in which Miami re-signed Dwyane Wade and acquired All-Stars LeBron James and Chris Bosh, he found himself coaching a highly-talented, veteran group that was the most scrutinized team in the NBA. Throughout his tenure he has remained a steadying influence for his team and its paid huge dividends in return. When the HEAT defeated Indiana in the 2014 Eastern Conference Finals they became just the third franchise in NBA history to make four consecutive NBA Finals appearances, joining the Celtics and Lakers. It also made them at the time just one of 10 franchises in the four major North American sports leagues to make four consecutive trips to the league championship. Individually, Spoelstra became just the fourth head coach in NBA history to lead his team to four consecutive Finals appearances joining Red Auerbach, K.C. Jones and Pat Riley, all of whom have been inducted into the Naismith Memorial Hall of Fame.

Spoelstra, who currently sits in 11th place on the NBA's all-time postseason winning percentage list (minimum 50 games coached) and fourth among active head coaches, joined a very elite fraternity when he led the HEAT to a seven-game series win over the San Antonio Spurs in the 2013 NBA Finals. Upon capturing the 2013 NBA Championship he became just the 13th head coach in NBA history to have won multiple championships and only the eighth to win a championship in consecutive seasons. In regular season play, he's currently ranked 20th on the NBA's all-time victories list and 15th all-time in regular season win percentage (minimum 500 games coached).

Since he took over the HEAT in 2008, no coach has recorded more playoff victories than Spoelstra's 109 and his 23 postseason series won are tied with Golden State's Steve Kerr for the most by an individual the past 15 seasons. Under Spoelstra, the HEAT has advanced to the playoffs in 12 of his 15 seasons and have won 23 of 33 postseason series (.697 winning percentage), including a franchise-record 11 consecutive series from 2012-14. Spoelstra's teams have a 23-13 (.639) record when having an opponent on the brink of elimination, including a 13-3 (.813) mark at the Kaseya Center, and a 12-10 (.545) mark when they are on the brink of elimination. One of the keys to that success has been Miami's dominance at the home under Spoelstra. In his 15 seasons, Spoelstra's regular season record at the Kaseya Center is a sterling 399-194 (.673) and his postseason record at home is an even better 59-24 (.711). The HEAT has also proven to be able to win away from home, evidenced by five straight seasons from 2009-14 that Miami posted a winning road record, a first in franchise history. Additionally, Miami won at least one postseason road game in 23 consecutive series from 2011-20, the second best mark in NBA history.

The 2022-23 season saw Spoelstra lead the HEAT to the NBA Finals for the sixth time in the last 13 seasons, tied with Golden State for the most Finals appearances in that span. Additionally, he guided Miami to a Southeastern Division championship, his ninth as a head coach, and its fourth consecutive postseason berth. The HEAT entered the playoffs as the eighth-seed and then went on to upset both top-seeded Milwaukee and second-seeded Boston, eliminating both teams in their own arenas. He also reached a personal milestone during the regular season as he captured his 700th career win on Mar. 22, 2023 against the Knicks.

The previous season Spoelstra led Miami to the best record in the Eastern Conference and another the Southeast Division championship. Miami came within one game of earning another trip to the NBA Finals, dropping a seven-game series to Boston in the Conference Finals. In December of that season he was named NBA Eastern Conference Coach of the Month for a franchise-record ninth time and in February he served as head coach in the NBA All-Star Game for the second time in his career.

Adaptability has long been a strength of Spoelstra and never was it more important than the 2019-20 season when he navigated his team through the many challenges of balancing the pandemic-interrupted season on the court while also championing the HEAT's fight for social justice off the court. Spoelstra's attention to detail was crucial as he guided the HEAT on an improbable run to its sixth NBA Finals appearance. The HEAT captured the Southeast Division championship for the ninth time in franchise history and entered the playoffs as the number five seed in the East. Miami then proceeded to sweep fourth-seed Indiana in the opening round, eliminate top-seeded Milwaukee in five games in the Conference Semifinals and defeat Boston in six games in the Conference Finals before dropping the NBA Finals to the Lakers in six games.

In a career highlighted by multiple championships and Finals appearances, the 2016-17 campaign might have been

HEAD COACH ERIK SPOELSTRA

Spoelstra's greatest coaching job. Despite leading the league in games missed due to injury, Spoelstra guided the HEAT to the greatest in-season turnaround in NBA history and as a result shared the National Basketball Coaches Association inaugural Michael H. Goldberg Coach of the Year Award with Mike D'Antoni. After compiling an 11-30 (.268) record at the halfway point of the season, the HEAT completely reversed course going 30-11 (.732) over the final 41 games to finish the season at .500. Previously, no team in NBA history that was at least 19 games under .500, at any point during the season, had ever managed to end the season at .500. Miami finished with the most wins (41) in league history of any team that had been at least 19 games under .500 at any point in a season. The HEAT's second half turnaround was highlighted by a 13-game winning streak from Jan. 17-Feb. 10, the franchise's third-longest winning streak and the longest in NBA history by any team that was at least 19 games under .500.

The 2013-14 season saw the HEAT capture their fourth straight Eastern Conference Championship, fourth straight Southeast Division title and their sixth straight postseason appearance, tying the franchise record for consecutive postseason berths. Spoelstra added to his individual accolades capturing Coach of the Month honors for the month of February after guiding Miami to a 9-1 record. On Feb. 23, he notched his 300th career victory against Chicago in just his 448th game, reaching that milestone in fewer games than any coach in franchise history.

After guiding Miami to its second NBA crown in 2012, Spoelstra and his team knew they would get everyone's best shot on a daily basis during the 2012-13 season and what the HEAT accomplished under Spoelstra was one of the greatest seasons in NBA history. It was a season filled with highlights from participating in a preseason tour in China to ending with a championship celebration on the floor of the Kaseya Center on June 20, 2013.

Spoelstra guided the HEAT to a franchise-record 66-win regular season which included a 27-game winning streak from Feb. 3-Mar. 25, the second longest single-season streak in NBA history. In large part due to the winning streak, the HEAT finished the second half of the 2012-13 season with a 38-3 record and lost just one game each in the months of February, March and April. The 17-1 record in March set a franchise record for victories in any month. As a result of the streak, Spoelstra was named the NBA Eastern Conference Coach of the Month in both February and March becoming the first HEAT coach to receive the honors in consecutive months. The record-setting season also helped Spoelstra earn the honor of coaching the Eastern Conference at the 2013 NBA All-Star Game, a first in his career.

The 2012 championship culminated a compressed 2011-12 season in which Miami went 46-20 and captured its second consecutive Southeast Division title. The regular season was highlighted by a nine-game win streak (Feb. 10-Mar. 1) with each victory by double-digits. During the streak the HEAT became the first team to win road games on three consecutive nights (Feb. 12-14) since December of 1979 and the first to win each of those contests by double-digits since the 1970-71 season.

Miami's success during the 2011-12 campaign was keyed by its defense as the HEAT finished ranked in the top five in field goal percentage defense for the third straight year. The HEAT also proved dominant at home, posting a 28-5 record, which included a 17-game home winning streak, the second longest in franchise history. The 28 home victories tied for the most in the league and the .848 home winning percentage is the third best single-season mark in franchise history.

Spoelstra led Miami to a 58-24 regular season record, a Southeast Division title and an Eastern Conference championship in 2010-11. The 58 wins mark the fourth best total in franchise history and Miami's 28 road wins tied for the most in the NBA in 2010-11 and rank third in HEAT history. Spoelstra earned NBA Eastern Conference Coach of the Month honors in December after guiding the HEAT to a 15-1 record, including a perfect 10-0 mark on the road. The 10 road victories in December set a franchise record for any month and the HEAT established an NBA record for most consecutive road wins in a calendar month. Defense was once again the stalwart of the HEAT's success as Miami led the NBA in point differential, finished second in defensive field goal percentage and sixth in scoring defense.

After an impressive rookie campaign, Spoelstra guided Miami to a 47-35 record in 2009-10. Under his leadership the HEAT closed the season by winning 18 of its final 22 games, including a 12-3 record in March which earned him NBA Eastern Conference Coach of the Month honors. The 2009-10 season was one of its best defensive seasons for Miami as the HEAT allowed the fewest field goals in the NBA and finished second in both points allowed and defensive field goal percentage.

ERIK SPOELSTRA — HEAD COACH

During his rookie season, Spoelstra led Miami to its greatest single-season improvement. He inherited a 15-win team and directed it to a 28-win improvement, marking the greatest improvement by a rookie head coach in NBA history, bettering the previous record of a 20-win improvement by Chicago's Ed Badger during the 1976-77 season. It also marked the seventh-best single-season improvement in NBA history by any coach. As a result of a 43-win season, the most by a head coach in his first year guiding the HEAT, Spoelstra led Miami to the 2009 NBA Playoffs. The 2009 postseason appearance made Miami just the second team in NBA history to win 15-or-fewer games one year and make the postseason the next, joining the 1968-69 San Diego Rockets.

Before taking over the reigns as the sixth head coach in HEAT history, Spoelstra had served Miami in a number of roles in his first 13 years. He was originally hired as video coordinator and over the years was promoted to assistant coach/video coordinator, assistant coach/advance scout and assistant coach/director of scouting before ascending to head coach. He made a name for himself around the league with his game preparation and superb attention to detail. In his seven seasons as the HEAT's assistant coach/director of scouting, he had the primary role of developing game plans for upcoming opponents. To that end, he coordinated the video staff and advance scouts while overseeing the development of scouting reports and videos.

Spoelstra, who helped design and integrate a proprietary statistical database and scouting software for the HEAT, has earned a strong reputation as a teacher over the years by heading the HEAT's Individual Player Development Program. As an assistant coach, where he also served for three seasons (2005-07) as the head coach of the HEAT's summer league team, he worked tirelessly with many of Miami's young players in areas of skill development and shooting. This consistent emphasis of fundamentals and teaching has helped Miami earn a reputation for having one of the best development programs in the NBA. It's that reputation as a teacher that led USA Basketball to select him as the head coach of the 2020 USA Select Team that helped prepare the US Senior National Team for the 2020 Olympic Games where they once again captured the gold-medal. Spoelstra's journey with Team USA continues as he was named an Assistant Coach for the 2022-24 USA Men's National Basketball Team, where he will aid Head Coach Steve Kerr in pursuit of gold at the 2024 Summer Olympic Games in Paris.

In 1992, he graduated from the University of Portland with a degree in communications. While attending Portland, Spoelstra was the starting point guard for four years and was named the West Coast Conference Freshman of the Year in 1989. Upon graduating he spent two years as a player/coach for Tus Herten, a team in the professional sports league of Germany.

In July 2009, Spoelstra embarked on what would be the first of four trips back to his native Philippines. In each of these trips, he has hosted basketball and coaches' clinics, promoted the importance of education, healthy living and wellness, while being able to reach close to 10,000 underprivileged youth through these efforts. In 2011, the nine-day program in Manila was the largest NBA FIT event ever hosted in Southeast Asia under the NBA Cares umbrella. During the summer of 2012, Spoelstra expanded this program to include the country of Singapore. Spoelstra's commitment to help grow the game of basketball globally also includes serving as head coach for Team World in the NBA Africa Game 2017 in Johannesburg, South Africa as part of Basketball Without Borders Africa in August 2017.

Raised in Portland, OR, Spoelstra, who was inducted into the Jesuit High School Athletic Hall of Fame in September 2009, is the first Asian/Filipino-American head coach in any of the major North American sports leagues.

Spoelstra is not the only member of his family to have a successful career in professional sports. His father, Jon Spoelstra, was a long-time NBA executive who guided the Portland Trail Blazers, Denver Nuggets, Buffalo Braves and New Jersey Nets and his grandfather, Watson, was a Detroit Tigers beat writer for many years. In his free time, Spoelstra enjoys spending time with his children Santiago, Dante and Ruby and their dog, Rosie.

CHRIS QUINN

ASSISTANT COACH

The 2023-24 season marks the 10th season as an Assistant Coach at Miami for Chris Quinn. The former HEAT point guard is the longest tenured assistant on Head Coach Erik Spoelstra's staff. For the past nine seasons, Quinn has played a major role in Miami's highly successful development program. He served as Assistant Coach/Director of Player Development for four seasons (2016-20) after spending his first two years as Assistant Coach/Player Development. He also worked with Miami's NBA G League team, the Sioux Falls Skyforce, as an assistant coach in his first year with the club and served as the Head Coach of the HEAT's 2017 Summer League team. Before joining the HEAT, he served as director of player development at Northwestern University.

During the 2021-22 season he got an opportunity to serve as the HEAT's Acting Head Coach for three games that Spoelstra was not available and led Miami to a 2-1 record. He made his head coaching debut on Feb. 12 vs. Brooklyn and led the HEAT to wins at Toronto on Apr. 3 and at home vs. Charlotte on Apr. 5. In the win over the Hornets, the HEAT scored 144 points, their franchise record for most points in a non-overtime game.

Quinn, a six-year NBA veteran, was originally signed by the HEAT as a free agent on July 6, 2006, appearing in 168 games (26 starts) with Miami over three and a half seasons (2006-10), playing for both Pat Riley and Erik Spoelstra. He led Miami in both three-point field goal percentage and assist-to-turnover ratio during the 2008-09 season and currently ranks 11th on the HEAT's all-time three-point field goal percentage list (.397). Quinn went on to play three more NBA seasons, splitting time with the New Jersey Nets, San Antonio Spurs and Cleveland Cavaliers. He then played for the Tulsa 66ers of the NBA G League before finishing professionally overseas in Spain with Valencia Basket and in Russia, helping BC Khimki to a Eurocup Championship.

A 2006 graduate of Notre Dame, Quinn was a three-year starter and two-time co-captain for the Fighting Irish. He was named to the All-Big East First Team as a senior and was a three-time Big East Academic All-Star Team selection. He finished his collegiate career with 1,454 points, the 16th most in school history while also ranking fifth in steals (155), sixth in three-point field goal percentage (.417), seventh in three-point field goals made (239) and eighth in assists (428).

Quinn, a Dublin, OH native, resides in Miami with his wife, Lauren, and their three children, Charlie, Lydia and Colette.

MALIK ALLEN

ASSISTANT COACH

Malik Allen, who began his NBA career as an undrafted free agent with the HEAT back in 2001, begins his fifth season as an Assistant Coach on Head Coach Erik Spolestra's staff. Allen, who served as the head coach of the HEAT's 2021 and 2022 summer league teams, works primarily with the HEAT big men. Prior to returning to Miami beginning with the 2019-20 season, Allen spent one season (2018-19) as an Assistant Coach with the Minnesota Timberwolves and four years (2014-18) as Assistant Coach with the Detroit Pistons under Stan Van Gundy, who he played for in both Miami and Orlando.

A 10-year NBA veteran, Allen appeared in 478 games (125 starts) and averaged 4.9 points, 2.8 rebounds and 15.2 minutes while shooting 43.9 percent from the field and 77.8 percent from the foul line. Additionally, he made the postseason in six of his 10 seasons, including an appearance in the 2004 Eastern Conference Semifinals with Miami. Allen, who initially signed with the HEAT on July 20, 2001, played his first four seasons in Miami. He appeared in 151 games (81 starts) with the HEAT from 2001-05 and averaged 7.2 points, 4.2 rebounds and 22.1 minutes while shooting 42.6 percent from the field and 80.3 percent from the foul line. Allen enjoyed his finest NBA season, with the HEAT in 2002-03, when he set career highs in games played (80) and starts (73) and averaged career highs in points (9.6), rebounds (5.3) and minutes (29.0). After leaving Miami, he went on to play in Charlotte, Chicago, New Jersey, Dallas, Milwaukee, Denver and Orlando before retiring after the 2010-11 season. Prior to playing in the NBA with Miami, Allen began his professional career with the San Diego Wildfire of the ABA in 2000-01.

He earned All-Big East Second Team honors his senior year after leading the Wildcats in scoring (14.2 ppg), rebounding (7.4 rpg) and blocks (1.88 bpg) and in February of 2022 he was inducted into the Villanova Athletic Hall of Fame.

A Willingboro, NJ native, Allen and his wife, Kara, live in Palmetto Bay with their son, Dante, and their daughter, Maya.

CARON BUTLER

ASSISTANT COACH

After a stellar 14-year NBA playing career, that included winning an NBA Championship with Dallas (2011) and a pair of All-Star appearances with Washington (2007 and 2008), Caron Butler returned home to Miami prior to the 2020-21 season to where his NBA career began nearly 20 years prior. The 2020-21 season marked his initial foray into the world of coaching and he now begins his fourth season as an assistant coach on Erik Spoelstra's staff. Butler, who was universally respected throughout his playing career, was known for both his physical and mental toughness, traits that make him a valuable asset to both the coaching staff and players. DIRECTOR OF COLLEGE & PRO SCOUTING/ ASSISTANT GENERAL MANAGER, SIOUX FALLS SKYFORCE

Keith Askins begins his 34th year as a member of the HEAT organization and his eighth in the role of Director of College and Pro Scouting/Assistant General Manager, Sioux Falls Skyforce. The past 10 seasons he has worked closely with Vice President, Basketball Operations/Assistant General Manager Adam Simon and former Vice President, Player Personnel and current Senior Advisor of Basketball Operations/Basketball Chet Kammerer overseeing all aspects of the HEAT's scouting department. After serving three seasons (2013-16) as Miami's Director of College and Pro Scouting, he earned the additional title of Assistant General Manager of the Sioux Falls Skyforce prior to the 2016-17 season. Since the promotion he has taken on additional responsibilities assisting with the operations of the HEAT's G League affiliate.

After a productive nine-year playing career, one spent entirely with Miami, Askins joined the HEAT coaching staff under Pat Riley as a volunteer assistant halfway through the 1999-00 season. The following season he was promoted to full-time status and served as an Assistant Coach/Advance Scout for the HEAT for two seasons (2000-02) before moving to the bench full-time beginning with the 2002-03 season. During his 14 years on the HEAT coaching staff, Askins worked extensively with the HEAT's forwards and his primary duties included the development of Miami's players both during the season and in the off-season.

Askins still ranks among Miami's all-time leaders in games played (5th), offensive rebounds (14th), total rebounds (17th), steals (19th), blocked shots (19th), minutes played (20th) and three-point field goals made (20th) and attempted (20th). Known for his aggressive play and long range shooting, Askins served as a captain for the HEAT for four consecutive seasons from 1995-99 and captured the team's Leadership Award in both the 1994-95 and 1995-96 seasons.

Askins is also a former participant in the HEAT's TeamUp program, which prompted kids to become involved in community service, and was one of the team's most active community spokespersons during his career. In his free time, he enjoys golf, cigars, dominoes and backcountry fishing.

A graduate of the University of Alabama, Askins resides in El Paso, TX with his wife and twin boys.

CHAD KAMMERER

DIRECTOR OF NBA SCOUTING/ ADVANCE SCOUT

Chad Kammerer begins his 23rd year with the Miami HEAT organization and his 11th as Director of NBA Scouting/Advance Scout. Among his responsibilities, Kammerer provides scouting reports and player evaluations to assist the HEAT coaching staff in their game preparations.

Prior to being elevated to his current role in September 2013, he had spent five seasons as an assistant coach on Erik Spoelstra's staff from 2008-13, assisting in the areas of game planning, scouting and player development. He has also served as an assistant coach for the HEAT's summer league team for six years.

Kammerer originally joined the organization on a part-time basis during the 2001-02 season and then spent six years as the HEAT's full-time advance scout, from 2002-08 before moving to the bench.

Prior to joining the HEAT, Kammerer served as an assistant coach at Valparaiso University, the University of California at Los Angeles (UCLA), Concordia University (CA) and the University of Mississippi.

Kammerer, the son of HEAT Senior Advisor of Basketball Operations/Basketball Chet Kammerer, was born in Indiana and raised in California. He graduated from Westmont College in 1990 and later went on to earn his master's degree at the University of Mississippi in 1993.

He resides in Michigan with his two children, Natasha and Chase.

BOB McADOO

SCOUT/COMMUNITY LIAISON

Bob McAdoo enters his 29th season with the HEAT organization and his ninth in the role of Scout/ Community Liaison. He brings 42 years of combined NBA experience, as an assistant coach, player and scout, into the field of player personnel and scouting where he serves as one of the lead scouts for HEAT Vice President, Basketball Operations/Assistant General Manager Adam Simon. In his current role, McAdoo's duties include scouting on the NBA, college and international levels.

A former NBA MVP, McAdoo joined the HEAT as an assistant coach under Pat Riley beginning with the 1995-96 season and remained a fixture on the HEAT bench for 19 seasons under Riley, Stan Van Gundy and Erik Spoelstra. During his 19 years as an assistant coach he worked primarily with the HEAT big men and was instrumental in developing their overall skills. He also worked on a constant basis with all players to improve their shooting skills, while imparting the wisdom and knowledge derived from a 14-year NBA playing career. McAdoo was in charge of charting the team's offensive efficiency and focusing on the strengths and weaknesses of opponent's big men. He also served as the head coach of the HEAT's Summer League team in 2004.

Generally considered the greatest shooting big man in NBA history, McAdoo enjoyed a storied 14-year playing career in the NBA, which included three consecutive scoring titles from 1973-74 through 1975-76 – making him one of only seven NBA players to accomplish the feat. He appeared in five consecutive All-Star games as well as being named the NBA MVP in 1975. McAdoo, who was selected as a member of the NBA's 75th Anniversary Team, received the game's greatest honor when he was elected into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in 2000.

Over his career, "Doo" averaged 22.1 points and 9.4 rebounds while connecting on 50.3 percent of his field goal attempts. McAdoo, the second overall pick in the 1972 NBA Draft, began his NBA career in 1972 as a member of the Buffalo Braves coached by Hall of Famer Dr. Jack Ramsay. He went on to capture the 1972-73 Rookie of the Year award after averaging 18.0 points and 9.1 rebounds. In each of the next three seasons he averaged at least 30 points and 12 rebounds. His career also included tours with New York, New Jersey, Boston, Philadelphia and the Los Angeles Lakers were he played for Pat Riley and won NBA championships in 1982 and 1985. After finishing in 1986 with the 76ers, McAdoo played professionally in Italy (1986-92) where his teams went on to win the Italian Championship three times and the European Championship twice. Individually, he captured MVP honors in both the Italian League and European Championships. In May of 2008 he was named as one of the 50 most influential personalities in European Club Basketball over the last half century, one of just 35 players to receive that honor.

McAdoo's success began early in his career, as he was an All-American at every level of play, starting in high school, and then at Vincennes JC, where he was a member of the JUCO national championship team in 1970. He also received All-America honors while playing at the University of North Carolina, where he helped guide the Tar Heels to a Final Four appearance. McAdoo also played for the United States in the 1971 Pan American Games. Additionally, he has also been inducted into both the National Junior College Athletic Association Hall of Fame (2021) and the North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame (1993).

McAdoo and his wife, Patrizia, reside in Boca Raton with their son, Ryan, who recently graduated from the University of North Carolina where he was a member of the basketball team, and their daughter, Rasheeda, who graduated from Georgia Tech and is now on the WTA Professional Circuit. His son, Robert III, is the head tennis coach at Keiser University in West Palm Beach, his son, Ross, lives in Alaska and his son, Russell, and daughter, Rita, reside in New Jersey.

January 11 The NBA upheld a protest filed by the HEAT after its 117-111 overtime loss to the Atlanta Hawks on December 19, 2007 at Philips Arena, which would result in the replay of the final 51.9 seconds of the game's overtime period with Miami trailing 114-111. The replay was scheduled to take place prior to the next contest between the two teams, at Atlanta on March 8. The HEAT protested the game because, with 51.9 seconds left in overtime, the Hawks' scoring table personnel incorrectly disqualified HEAT center Shaquille O'Neal, asserting a foul committed by O'Neal was his sixth of the game, when in fact it was his fifth. The error occurred because the Hawks' Official Scorer mistakenly attributed to O'Neal a foul with 3:24 remaining in the fourth quarter which was actually called on Udonis Haslem. NBA Commissioner David Stern ruled that the Hawks were grossly negligent in committing this scoring error, since they failed to follow league-mandated scoring procedures and failed to respond effectively when the members of the statisticians' crew noticed the mistake. Under the unprecedented set of circumstances, the Commissioner granted the HEAT's protest, and fined the Hawks $50,000 for their violation of league rules. The protest was the first granted by the NBA since December 14, 1982 when then-NBA Commissioner Larry O'Brien upheld a protest by the San Antonio Spurs in a double-overtime loss to the Los Angeles Lakers.

The Hawks then went on to win the regularly scheduled game at Philips Arena, 97-94, to complete the sweep.

THE PARTNERSHIP

On June 10, 2013, the Miami HEAT announced they had entered into a single affiliation partnership with the NBA G League's Sioux Falls Skyforce and on August 24, 2015 they extended that relationship through the 2016-17 season. The two organizations took the next step in solidifying and strengthening the partnership on June 1, 2017 when the HEAT announced they purchased a controlling interest in their G League affiliate.

Since the teams entered into a hybrid affiliation prior to the 2013-14 season, Sioux Falls has amassed a 234-175 (.572) regular season record. The highlight of the partnership came during the 2015-16 season when the Skyforce went on to capture the 2016 NBA G League championship after a record-breaking 40-win regular season. Sioux Falls has captured three division titles and earned four postseason berths during the nine seasons of the hybrid partnership. Over the span of that partnership, the 234 wins and .572 winning percentage recorded by the Skyforce rank second and fourth respectively in the G League. Additionally, since the single affiliation with the HEAT began prior to the 2013-14 season, the Skyforce has had a total of 38 NBA call-ups including a league-high 15 since the beginning of the 2021-22 season.

Sioux Falls joined the NBA G League in 2006 after serving stints with both the International Basketball League (2000-01) and the Continental Basketball Association (1989-00 & 2001-06). The Skyforce captured two CBA Championships (1996 & 2005) and three CBA division titles before joining the NBA G League.

KASIB POWELL

HEAD COACH

Kasib Powell begins his third year as head coach of the HEAT's G League affiliate, the Sioux Falls Skyforce. Powell was originally hired in 2016 as an assistant coach for the Skyforce, a role he held for four seasons before being promoted to his current position on Sept. 16, 2021. He is the 21st head coach in Sioux Falls' history and in addition to leading the Skyforce he assists the HEAT coaching staff during both summer league and training camp. Since he took over the head coaching reins of the Skyforce they have had a league-high 15 call-ups and last season advanced to the NBA G League Western Conference Finals.

Powell, who was inducted into the Skyforce Hall of Fame in April 2016, previously spent two seasons (2007-09) with the Skyforce as a player where he earned the 2007-08 NBA G League MVP award after averaging 22.2 points, 6.0 rebounds and 3.0 assists. As a result of his playing stint in Sioux Falls, Powell was signed by the HEAT on March 22, 2008 to a 10-day contract and later was re-signed for the remainder of the season on April 8. He appeared in 11 games (four starts) with Miami and averaged 7.6 points, 4.0 rebounds, 1.6 assists and 27.6 minutes. His professional playing career spanned over nine seasons which included stops in the NBA, the NBA G League, CBA, USBL and overseas.

Upon his retirement in 2013, Powell served as the owner of the South Dakota Basketball Network, which focuses on the development of AAU players, and as head coach of the Dakota Magic of the National Basketball League of America. SENIOR DIRECTOR OF SPORTS MEDIA RELATIONS

Rob Wilson begins his 25th season with the HEAT and his 10th as Senior Director of Sports Media Relations. He originally joined the HEAT as Assistant Director of Sports Media Relations in August of 1999 before being elevated to Director of Sports Media Relations in September of 2002. Wilson, who was promoted to his current position in October of 2014, is responsible for the HEAT's day-to-day and game-night media operations and serves as the team's statistical historian. He also assists Vice President, Sports Media Relations Tim Donovan with daily player and coach interviews, travels with the team and serves as a media liaison on the road. Wilson has also served as the editor of the HEAT media guide for each of the past 25 seasons and served seven seasons as editor of the HEAT postseason guide.

A 1986 Villanova University graduate, Wilson has spent 41 years in the professional and collegiate athletics field. He began his career as a student manager at Villanova from 1982-86 and was a member of the staff when the Wildcats captured the 1985 NCAA Championship. After graduation, he served as a public relations intern at the Big East Conference for the 1987-88 season. From 1988-93, he was the sports information director at Drexel University before joining the public relations staff of the Philadelphia Phillies in August of 1993, just two months before their World Series appearance. Wilson left the Phillies one year later to become the Men's Basketball SID at the University of Miami, a position he held for just over three years. During his tenure at UM, he also served as the Baseball SID and an assistant SID with the Hurricanes' nationally-ranked football team. He was hired by the Philadelphia 76ers in August of 1997 and spent two seasons as the Manager of Communications before joining the HEAT in August of 1999.

A native of Commack, NY, Wilson currently lives in Miami Beach.

MICHAEL LISSACK
DIRECTOR OF SPORTS MEDIA RELATIONS

Michael Lissack begins his 20th full season with the HEAT and his 10th as Director of Sports Media Relations. He originally joined the HEAT as Assistant Director of Sports Media Relations in April of 2004 before being promoted to his current position in October of 2014. His responsibilities include assisting the department with day-to-day operations, arranging player appearances, as well as designing and editing the team's preseason and postseason media guides. He also travels with the team and serves as a media liaison during road games.

Lissack received his bachelor of science degree from Boston University's College of Communications in 1999. Throughout his college years, he held season-long internships in the Boston Celtics media relations department, and summer internships with the Philadelphia 76ers. He also interned with the NHL's Boston Bruins and worked in BU's sports marketing department.

Upon graduation, Lissack spent one season in the Golden State Warriors creative services department before returning to Boston to join the Celtics as Media Relations/Creative Services Coordinator. In that position, he was responsible for the public image of the club, as he was actively involved in writing, editing and creating all team publications and print ads, including the annual media guide and serving as editor of the team's monthly magazine. He was also instrumental in the day-to-day media operations and developing the Shaw's/Reebok Pro Summer League into a premier yearly event. In February of 2003, he was promoted to Manager of Team Relations where he focused on the daily media operations of the team.

A native of Philadelphia, PA, Lissack resides in Miami Beach.

MIAMI HEAT SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY

The Miami HEAT is committed to making a lasting impact on our community. We are champions of the underdog. Thoughtful and fearless in all we do [both on and off the court].

EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMS

HEAT ACADEMY
supported by Florida Blue

Recognizing the need for children to receive extra exposure to academics, particularly in reading, writing, math and science, the Miami HEAT for the 25th year has embraced the importance of providing children with the opportunity to have a free, quality after-school program in South Florida. Through the generous financial support of supporting sponsor Florida Blue, along with a collaborative partnership with Miami-Dade County Public Schools, the Miami HEAT has teamed up to facilitate HEAT Academy at three local inner-city schools: Paul Laurence Dunbar K-8 Center, Jesse J. McCrary, Jr. Elementary and Riverside Elementary. At HEAT Academy, students work on academics, get assistance with homework, have a safe place to be when their parents are not available, and most importantly, learn from positive role models who inspire kids to excel. HEAT employees frequently visit the classrooms and introduce their own lesson plans to the students. HEAT Academy operates the majority of the school year, Monday – Friday. Since 1999, $5.3 million in funds have benefited students in the HEAT Academy program, with an average annual investment of $231,000.

HEAT MINDFULNESS SANCTUARY
presented by Florida Blue

In its ongoing effort to support mental health advocacy, the Miami HEAT, along with Florida Blue, have teamed up to create a HEAT Mindfulness Sanctuary in areas of need across South Florida. These sanctuaries will serve as a safe space where students and adults can mitigate the effects of stress in a calm and welcoming environment. These rooms will be outfitted with amenities and other resources that will mainly contribute to their overall mental wellness. In May 2023, The HEAT established its first Mindfulness Sanctuary at Miami Carol City Senior High School in Miami Gardens.

HEAT SCHOLARSHIPS
presented by The Miami HEAT Charitable Fund

In its 28th year, the Miami HEAT Charitable Fund is offering $25,000 in scholarship funds to high school seniors attending Miami-Dade, Broward, Monroe and Palm Beach Schools. Scholarship applications are available in the Fall and recipients are awarded in May. Scholarships are awarded based on academic performance, outstanding community service and financial need. HEAT BLACK HISTORY MONTH

Throughout February and beyond, the Miami HEAT and the NBA will celebrate Black history and support the ongoing pursuit of racial justice by taking leaguewide action that centers the voices, experiences and perspectives of Black players, coaches, employees and fans. As we honor the legacy and contributions of Black leaders from history, we will take collective actions in the present that demonstrate our shared commitment to building a more just, equal, and inclusive future.

HEAT SCHOOL TO WORK PROGRAM

For the past 17 years, the Miami HEAT has partnered with Big Brothers Big Sisters of Miami in providing former HEAT Academy students with the educational and life skills necessary for a successful future. The HEAT School to Work Program has provided hundreds of students with different life skill workshops along with pairing them with the front office staff at the HEAT to help prepare them for college and future employment as well as for consideration of one of 15 Carnival Scholarships.

MINDFULNESS CHAMPIONS INITIATIVE
presented by Florida Blue

The importance of mental health, eliminating the stigma surrounding it and providing the education to achieve a more resilient and healthier state of mind has never been a greater need in our society than it is today underscored by the recent pandemic and the affect that will remain with us long term. In an effort to address some of these needs as students and teachers return to school after an extended period of isolation and to further challenge other entities in our community to help join the effort and meet the mental health needs of those living in South Florida and beyond, the Miami HEAT alongside Florida Blue have underwritten the costs of a unique program in collaboration with Miami-Dade County Public Schools - the Miami HEAT Mindfulness Champions Initiative (MCI). MCI has trained more than 354 teachers in mindfulness and mental health education, one for every K-12 public school throughout the school district so they can in turn educate students and other faculty at their respective schools. The trainings, which take place each year and since the start of the 2021-22 school year, were conducted by Mindful Kids Miami.

These three organizations are the beneficiaries of profits from the sale of a special Black Lives Matter Collection of Court Culture Apparel. Additionally, the HEAT continues to work alongside these and other organizations to create initiatives and programming designed to help advance matters of social justice in our communities.

SOCIETAL JUSTICE

In partnership with the Miami Police Department and Dedication to Community (D2C), the Miami HEAT have facilitated the specialized training of all of Miami's sworn police patrol officers with the goals of positively impacting interactions between law enforcement and our diverse, local community—particularly the Black community. In September of 2020, the partnership began with a pilot program, training a subset of Miami PD officers. In November 2023, we will reach our longer-term goal of providing training to all of the sworn patrol officers as well as the civilian professional staff of the Miami PD. A similar pilot program, with 150 Miami-Dade Police Department officers took place in the Fall of 2022 and will continue this coming Fall. The partnership with D2C has grown to also include the Broward County Sheriff's Office and the Fort Lauderdale PD with additional agencies lining up to participate in this groundbreaking, one-of-kind opportunity to take ACTION in building a stronger, safer, more unified South Florida.

A key component of the course emphasizes community interaction. To that end, in true Bonded by Ball fashion, Wilson, the official basketball of the NBA, has donated 1,000 basketballs to the HEAT, who will use the donation to equip each of the 900 officers of the force with a basketball to be carried in their vehicles and to be used for random pick-up games with South Florida youth.

Also, HEAT partner, Florida Blue, share our vision and commitment to enhancing the interactions between local law enforcement and the South Florida community they serve and will co-present this initiative.

Values of the Game Award

On April 25, 2022, Michael McCullough, Executive Vice President/Chief Marketing Officer and Steve Stowe, Vice President/Executive Director of the Miami HEAT Charitable Fund received the "Values of the Game" Award, which recognizes an individual or individuals who inspire and connect people everywhere, but specifically in their community, through the power of basketball.

Pat Riley and the Miami HEAT created this initiative as a means of paying tribute to our soldiers and veterans. Currently, the program is working in partnership with Ultimate Software to provide further assistance with the unmet needs of military personnel and their families who have returned from Iraq and Afghanistan and reside in the South Florida area.

HEAT players will join forces to donate tickets for every single home game to local charitable organizations and over the course of the 2022-23 season, more than 5,000 children, many for the first time, will have the opportunity to enjoy a HEAT game, courtesy of their favorite HEAT players and role models.
